Trucks Pave Road to Tokyo

The ingenuity of American mechanics, acquired in civilian days in the automotive business in the U. S. A., enabled the Seabees, Navy construction men who fight when necessary in the advanced battle areas, to keep a fleet of 28 Chevrolet civilian trucks in operation for six months in road and airfield building in the Southwest Pacific. Presenting a strange, incongruous appearance in civilian paint jobs of varied colors, the trucks nevertheless played a vital role in the development of advanced bases for American fighting men in the Solomon area, according to Chief Machinery Mate Frank Martin, Philadelphia, former boss of 259 Seabees in the operation of trucks, tractors, road rollers, bulldozers and mechanical shovels, who returned recently to the United States to recuperate from injuries. "Anybody's success in operating mechanical equipment in the Southwest Pacific depends on his ingenuity in making things work," said Chief Martin. "With the aid of a blacksmith and ingeniously improvised parts, veteran trucks, battered and worn, are performing 'round the clock, carrying 'impossible' loads over 'impossible' roads, right under the noses of the nearby Japs."

Divers Clear Naples Harbor

The U. S. Navy is now clearing up the Bay of Naples for Allied shipping. The Nazis attempted to block every berth by sinking ships and barges and toppling cranes and even nearby buildings into the water. This photo shows a Navy diver, F. F. Garrigues, of Camden, N. J., being undressed by two other Navy men after twice into the bay. (Official DWI photo—Rural Press Section)

Stuckey Favors Federal Aid in Mosquito Control

Pokee, Feb. 24.—L. L. Stuckey, Palooka farmer and business man who is a candidate for Congress from the newly created Sixth District, this week added a new plank to his platform when he came out strongly for eradication of mosquitoes in Florida. "I know," Mr. Stuckey said, "that concerted effort on the part of the Florida delegation in congress can bring to successful conclusion a campaign for federal assistance in clearing our state of this malicious pest."

FARM WORK CREATES CITY JOBS

Every person in farm work creates jobs for two others, such as grocery clerks, stenographers, barbers, salesmen, etc. Thus 50,000 on farms, which is easily feasible, means jobs for another 100,000. This man has PROVEN he knows how to CREATE WORK.

and was engaged in farming activities also. The recently organized CAP warlet corps in the Glades was the most recent of Mr. Fleming's community activities, and it was while promoting this he carried one of his senior cadets on the fatal flight. Roy, Jr., is a Lieutenant-pilot of a B-24 radar-equipped and scheduled for overseas duty. Helen, the beloved wife, is attempting to contact Roy, Jr., thru the Red Cross. Mrs. Tennie Alsbaugh mother and a brother James live in Miami. Another brother, Clarence, lives in Sterling, Kan., a sister, Mrs. Vernon Nelson, lives in Portia, Ill.

Mr. Alsbaugh was a legionnaire, a 32nd degree Mason and associate patron of the local Order of the Eastern Star. Mr. Alsbaugh organized the first Red Cross First Aid class in the Glades and as Instructor had hundreds of pupils in the Community. Mr. Alsbaugh's funeral arrangements are not completed in connection from his son, Roy, Jr.

plan to improve. These improvements would save thousands of dollars yearly to farmers in hauling to and from fields already under cultivation. The marginal lands would increase in value three times the total cost of the outlined roads. Abutting property owners could with economical safety pay out of pocket the necessary funds to construct these roads. In some cases this is being planned and actually being done.

GREEK RELIEF (Continued from page 1) Yiddisher it was discovered that nearby towns were acquainted with the Greek and his proclivities with cards. Investigation brought out the fact that cards that had been used in a game were marked so that the stranger could read them either face up or back up.

It seems that the stranger bought a case of cards from a local store, and later found that he didn't need all of them. So, the kind hearted operator of the store agreed to swap them back for candy and other miscellaneous items. After that, local players bought some of the cards the gentleman had returned. He must have gotten the original cards mixed up with some that were already marked and returned them by mistake!

Anyhow the local boys—trusting souls—have been "hooked" by a slicker and by a game as old as the U. S.

Now, this story cannot be verified; its street talk, and sometimes unreliable. If you repeat this story, I didn't say it, but a friend who has an uncle who knows a lady whose husband heard it on the street, can tell you who told her.

If this can be proven, the man can be indicted and given a prison sentence, for gambling, not cheating. But, I wonder what would happen to the witness?

Their Needs Over There May Delay Your Getting Telephone Service Over Here

Telephone Switchboard in Dupont in New Guinea

Here at home we have restrictions on telephone service, so that our men at the front may have what they need in telephone equipment.

BECAUSE metals and other communication materials are so badly needed in war, it is becoming more and more difficult for the telephone company to fill service requests. In fact, facilities are now insufficient to meet the demands for service. So unless you qualify as an essential user — one whose telephone usage is essential to defense or public health, welfare or security—we regret that you may experience delay in getting service.

When facilities are available, they must be employed first for essential users. Then, from any facilities remaining, others will be served in their regular order. We will be glad to take your application for service, but a reasonable time may be required to determine if service can be furnished.

Everything possible is being done to lessen the effect of wartime restrictions on telephone service. And we look forward to the time when materials will be available, and we can again furnish the service you want when you want it.

Time is the secret of the mellow goodness of

JAX BEER

Say JAX! You can't buy better beer at any price!

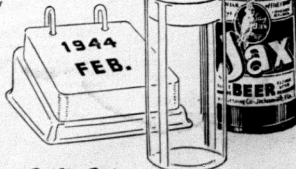

Hours, days and years all contribute to the superb flavor of JAX, the Drink of Friendship.

Hours . . . because skilled brewers of long experience spend many hours preparing each brew; making sure that the choice ingredients are just right . . . that every step of the brewing process is properly executed.

Days . . . because the carefully prepared brew must spend many days in the fermenting and ageing vats before it reaches the peak of goodness at which it is brought to you.

Years . . . because more than 30 years of experience in making JAX have brought a rare perfection to this fine, golden beer. JAX has been the favorite brew of thousands since 1914.

Try JAX today. We believe that the satisfying flavor, the rich bouquet of this great beer will cause you, like others, to say: "Make mine JAX! You can't buy better beer at any price!"
